IT – Cyber Adjunct Faculty – Homeland Security and Public Safety

Faculty Posting For Vincennes University Adjunct Professor of Homeland Security and Public Safety, Cyber and Information Technology Security Concentration, BS (7001)

Vincennes University is an Indiana public institution of higher education with campuses in southwestern Indiana communities of Vincennes, Jasper, Fort Branch, and in the Indianapolis area, (the Aviation center, Logistics location in Plainfield, and the American Sign Language program located at the Indiana School for the Deaf.) More information about Vincennes University is available at www.vinu.edu.

Position summary

The Vincennes University Information Technology Department at the Vincennes campus is seeking applicants for an Adjunct Homeland Security and Public Safety professor for daytime or evening instruction for the Spring 2022 Semester year. This is a part-time adjunct, non-tenure track position, reporting to the Chair of the Information Technology Department with close collaboration with the Chair of the Homeland Security and Public Safety Department.

Job requirements/experience

The Vincennes University Information Technology program is seeking applicants for an adjunct instructor for the Spring 2022 academic semester, based on scheduling needs. Applicants should have a broad generalized knowledge of all disciplines within Homeland Security and Public Safety and should possess a demonstrated understanding and knowledge of the underlying technologies and protocols involved in cybersecurity, as well as those used to attack and defend cyber assets. Applicants should have worked in Homeland Security, Cybersecurity, Emergency Management, or related field for a minimum of three years. A Bachelor's degree in Homeland Security and Public Safety, Emergency Management, Law Enforcement, Criminal Justice, Administration of Justice, Cybersecurity, or a related field is required, and a Master's Degree is preferred. Industry-relevant certifications in Cybersecurity are a plus.

How to apply

Interested applicants should submit a cover letter, resume and contact information for three references to Vincennes University, Human Resources, 1002 North First Street, Vincennes, IN 47591, or email to jobs@vinu.edu. Interviews and candidate selection may be held concurrently within the advertising period.

VU is committed to diversity in the college community.